

Research Assignment – Planning Sheet

Explain the topic that you have chosen – what is it? Why is it important to study this area of psychology?

Research study #1

You need to describe one research study linked to the topic – aims, method, results, conclusions

Research study #2

You need to describe one research study linked to the topic – aims, method, results, conclusions

Research Assignment – Planning Sheet

What would the aim of your research be? What are you trying to investigate?

What is your hypothesis? What do you expect to find?

What method of research will you use?

- Describe the method
- Tell me WHY you want to use this method rather than others
- What strengths/disadvantages are there of using this method?

What sampling technique will you use? Who will your sample group be? Why is this sampling technique the best one to use for your study?

Variables:

IV =

DV =

EVs that you will control =

Write a detailed description of the procedure (what exact things will you do?)